

Helping you build the foundations of a successful business

Expert legal support based on in-depth knowledge of the construction industry

How we can help you

Running a profitable, secure business in the construction industry depends more than ever on effective management of the legal issues involved. The commercial implications of legislation, regulations, codes of practice and guidelines in existence are major, so your choice of legal partner is an important one.

At Weightmans, our dedicated construction team has particular experience of working with surveyors, architects, construction companies, contractors, developers, investors, insurers and intermediaries. We can advise on every issue likely to affect your business, including contracts, dispute resolution, adjudications, planning & environmental, insurance and health & safety matters.

We will help you to protect your business, your brand and your profits. With Weightmans behind you, you can be confident of receiving advice that will help you reduce risks and make the most of every commercial opportunity.

We can also assist with corporate and commercial transactions, acquisition and disposal work, supply agreements and taxation issues.

Who we are

Weightmans is a top 100 UK law firm with more than 600 staff in five offices nationwide. We run a thriving national commercial practice and manage one of the largest defendant litigation teams in the UK.

Two things make us special: the first is that we focus on specific market sectors and have a keen understanding of the legal issues affecting the organisations who do business there. The second is that commercial thinking informs all our actions. Our advice and guidance is based on acute awareness of the marketplace and the economic impact of business activities on the corporate bottom line.
